Loading Instructions

Apple® II Series

Turn off your computer and insert the Dig Dug program disk into Drive 1. Turn on the computer. Dig Dug will load and run automatically.

Commodore 64™/128™

Turn on your monitor, disk drive, and computer. If you are using a Commodore 128, hold the Commodore key down while turning on the machine to enter 64 mode. Insert the Dig Dug program disk into the disk drive and close the latch. Type LOAD "",8,1 and press RETURN. The game will load and run.

IBM® PC/PCjr.™

Turn off your computer and insert the Dig Dug program disk into the default disk drive (usually Drive A:). Turn on the computer. When the memory test has completed, Dig Dug will load and run automatically.

The Game

Dig Dug starts each game with three lives. After he burrows to the center of the earth on his own, use the controls to send him anywhere you want. When he enters a tunnel where a Pooka is lurking, the monster will give chase. The Pooka can be exploded by quick use of the pump. A brief contact with the pump will stun the beast, and longer contact will inflate it until it explodes. Be careful trying to slip past a stunned monster. If Dig Dug is touched, he gets stunned himself.

Fygars can be handled in almost the same way, but since they breathe fire, you must be far more careful with your approach. In fact, a Fygar's fire will even burn through the earth, so make sure you're well out of range.

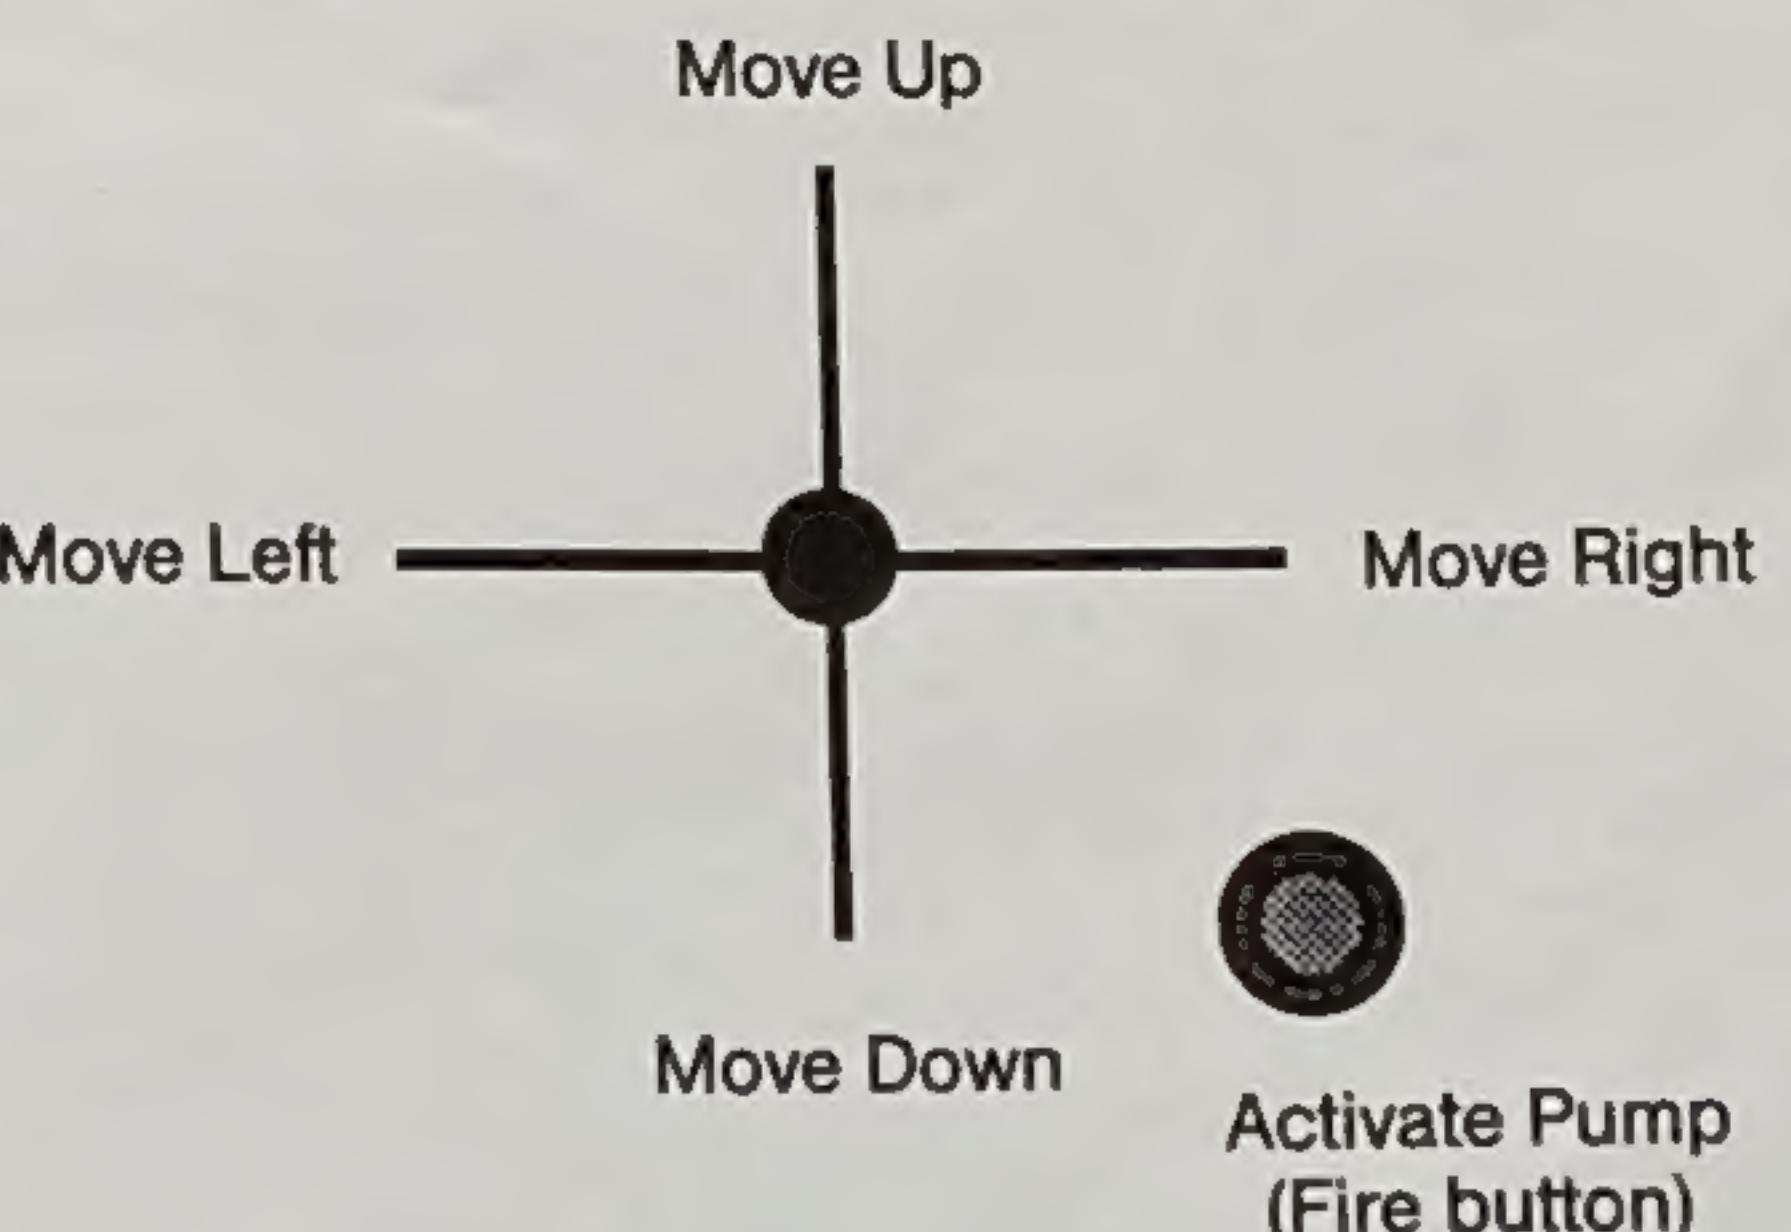

Another attack is to drop rocks on the creatures. To do this, just tunnel under a rock while a monster is chasing you. If your timing is right, the monster will get squashed.

Pookas and Fygars are very strange creatures. If they aren't destroyed quickly in the round, they turn into ghosts and start attacking directly through the earth. They rematerialize as soon as they enter a new tunnel.

After two rocks have fallen in any round, bonus veggies appear in the center of the earth and stay there for ten seconds. If Dig Dug can get to them in time, bonus points will be awarded.

Joystick Controls

All machine formats can use a joystick, if present. If you are using a joystick, the controls are as follows:
